

Many parts of the North East of England are accessible from London and Manchester in under three hours, and from Edinburgh in under two hours.